Jason Steele and the FATES (Volume 1) J A Reed

For Jason, getting accepted into FATES is the first step of the rest of his life, but how can he plan for the future when he doesn't even know his own past? Jason Steele leads a pretty normal life for a 14-year-old in the 2040's. He has parents that love him, despite all the secrets they keep from him. He has best friends he's never been apart from. He knows exactly what he wants to do with his life and how best to get there. The biggest problems in his life are bullies and a crush that hardly notices him. All in all, he's just a regular boy... But it's funny how much can change in just one year. When the number of strange occurrences builds to a point that even the most well-crafted lie can't cover, Jason finally learns the truth about himself, but that's only the beginning. As his bad luck streak continues, his parents find themselves as targets of the massive government agency ASTERISK, and one tiny little mistake blows up to have dire consequences for the Steele family. Then, even when he thinks he's gotten a handle on things again, he discovers he's not as alone as he was once led to believe. There are others like him, and not all of them are as friendly as others.
